Welcome

We're glad to have you here.

A LETTER FROM THE MANAGING DIRECTOR

We're glad to have you here.

Most welcome letters open with the rules. We'd rather start with the work.

The spaces we build are real. People use them every day. They work in them, meet in them, pass through them without a second thought. Long after handover, the work is still there, still being used. Not many jobs let you point at something and say you built that. This one does.

We do fit-out work that has to hold up after handover, not just look good in the render. It rewards people who think clearly, stay steady, and finish what they start. When we commit, we deliver. When something goes sideways, and it will, we stay calm, sort it out, and work through it together. No one here gets left to figure it out alone.

You are not expected to know everything on day one. Effort, curiosity, and a willingness to learn are what matter. Take the time to understand how the work flows before you speed up. Ask when you're unsure, no one here minds a good question. Pay attention to the details, because the details are the work.

Somewhere down the line you'll walk past a space we built and know your hands were on it. That's the job, and we're glad you're here to do it with us.

Welcome to D'trax.

Ronald Goh

Managing Director

About this handbook

A practical guide to how D'trax works.

About this handbook

PURPOSE

This handbook sets out how D'trax works, including our standards of conduct, workplace practices, and the day-to-day expectations that apply across the company. As we grow, we want these expectations to remain clear, consistent, and applied fairly to everyone.

WHO IT APPLIES TO

This handbook applies to all employees of D'trax unless otherwise stated. Employees may be engaged under different employment arrangements, and certain terms, benefits, entitlements, or work arrangements may vary depending on role, employment status, length of service, applicable laws, or individual contractual terms.

YOUR CONTRACT

This handbook is a practical guide and does not form part of any contract of employment unless expressly stated otherwise. Where any provision in this handbook differs from an employee's employment contract, the employment contract will prevail.

ROLES ACROSS TEAMS

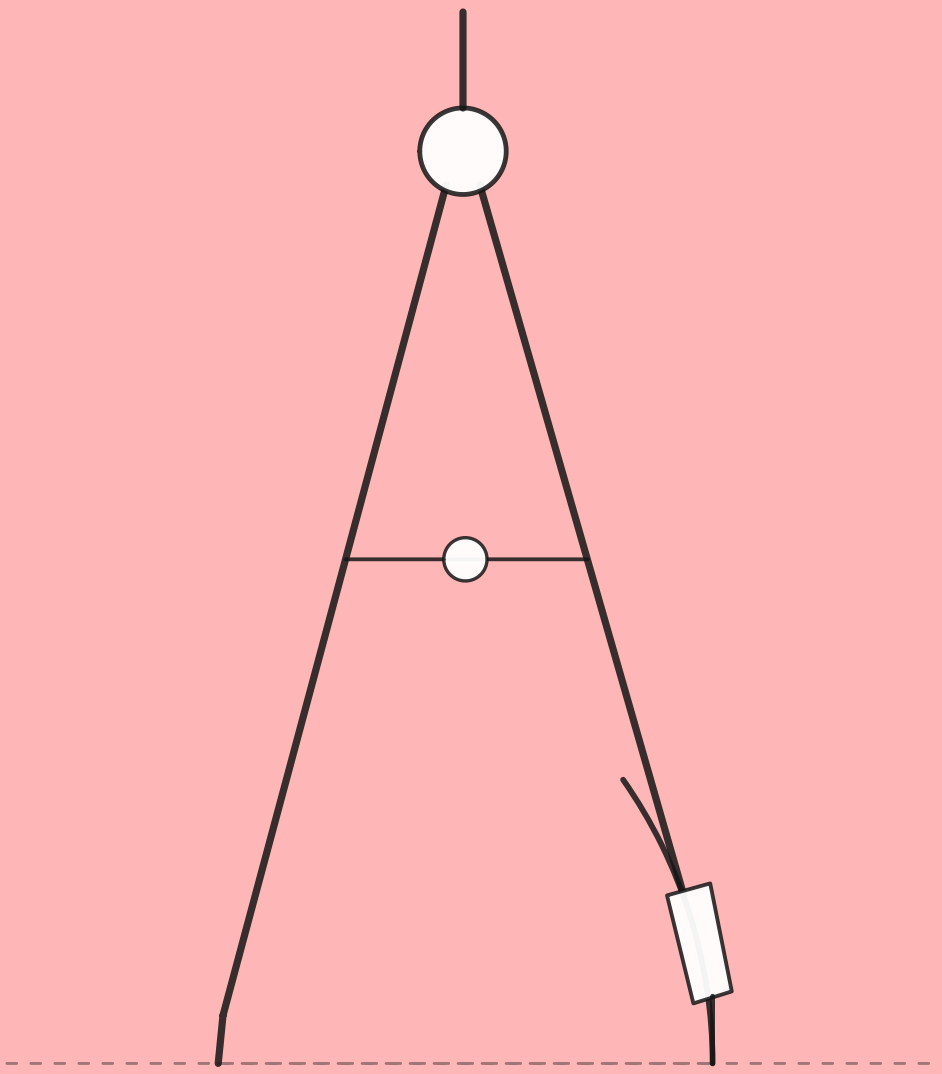

Some roles support multiple teams or functions. Where this occurs, reporting lines, authority levels, responsibilities, and approval requirements remain subject to the employee's job scope and employment contract.

UPDATES

The company may amend, update, or withdraw policies in this handbook from time to time to reflect changes in business needs, operational requirements, or legal and regulatory obligations. Employees are responsible for referring to the latest approved version and should seek clarification whenever needed.

Mission, vision and values

Think clearly, speak plainly, and finish what you start.

Good work is simple. Think clearly, speak plainly, and finish what you start.

- Ronald & Jayne, Founders

Mission and vision

OUR MISSION

We do work our clients can rely on. We design and build with care, think clearly, and make practical decisions that hold up on site.

OUR VISION

To be known for honest work, consistent delivery, and teams that take ownership and follow through, even under pressure.

Our values

Three principles guide how we work.

01 Think clearly.

We plan the work and make decisions deliberately. There is no room for guesswork where clarity is possible.

02 Speak plainly.

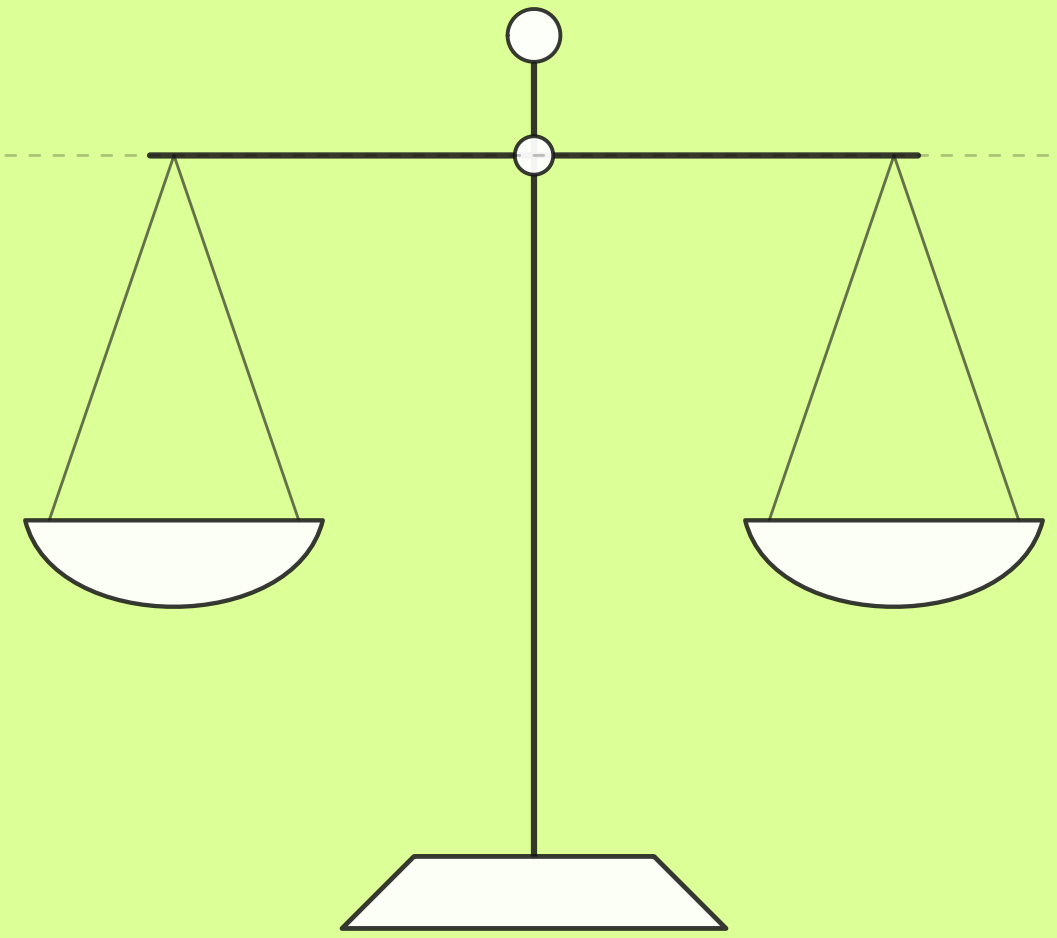

We are direct with clients, vendors, and each other. We raise issues early, before they become bigger problems.

03 Finish what we start.

We take ownership of the outcome, not just the task. When we commit, we follow through.

Underneath all three is one simple standard:

we build spaces that work in the real world. That is what everything is measured against.

04

Code of conduct

The standards expected of everyone at D'trax.

Code of conduct

This Code sets out the standards expected of everyone at D'trax. Employees are expected to comply with applicable laws and company policies. Breaches may result in disciplinary action in accordance with company procedures.

01 Professional conduct

Act with honesty, integrity, and professionalism at all times. How we conduct ourselves reflects on the company and contributes to the trust placed in us by colleagues, clients, and business partners. Employees are expected to maintain appropriate standards of behaviour and professionalism in all work-related activities.

02 Compliance with law and policy

Employees are expected to comply with Singapore law and all applicable company policies. These requirements help promote safe, fair, and responsible conduct across the company.

03 Confidentiality

Protect all non-public information relating to the company, clients, and partners. Confidentiality obligations continue during and after employment.

04 Conflict of interest

Employees must promptly disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest to their Reporting Officer or the company, and avoid situations where personal interests may improperly influence their work or decisions.

Code of conduct, 5 to 8

05 Gifts and benefits

Employees must not accept gifts, favours, or benefits that could influence, or appear to influence, their professional judgement or decisions. Token or customary gifts of nominal value may be accepted where appropriate but must be disclosed to management. Cash or cash equivalents must not be accepted.

06 Outside employment

Employees must obtain prior written approval from management before undertaking any outside employment, consultancy, or business activity. Such activities must not create a conflict of interest, interfere with the employee's duties, or adversely affect the interests of the company.

Passive investments or shareholdings are generally permitted provided they do not give rise to an actual or potential conflict of interest.

07 Use of company property and information

Company resources, data, and equipment are for authorised business purposes and must be used responsibly.

08 Workplace conduct and respect

D'trax is committed to a workplace where everyone is treated with dignity and respect. Harassment, discrimination, bullying, intimidation, and other inappropriate behaviour are not tolerated. Employees should raise concerns through their Reporting Officer, HR, or Management. Reports will be handled appropriately, and retaliation against anyone who raises a genuine concern in good faith will not be tolerated.

Code of conduct, 9 to 12

09 Attendance and punctuality

Our work requires reliability and consistent attendance. Employees are expected to observe their working hours and inform their Reporting Officer as early as possible if they expect to be late or unable to report for work. Repeated or unexplained lateness or absence may be addressed in accordance with the employment contract and applicable company policies.

10 Performance and development

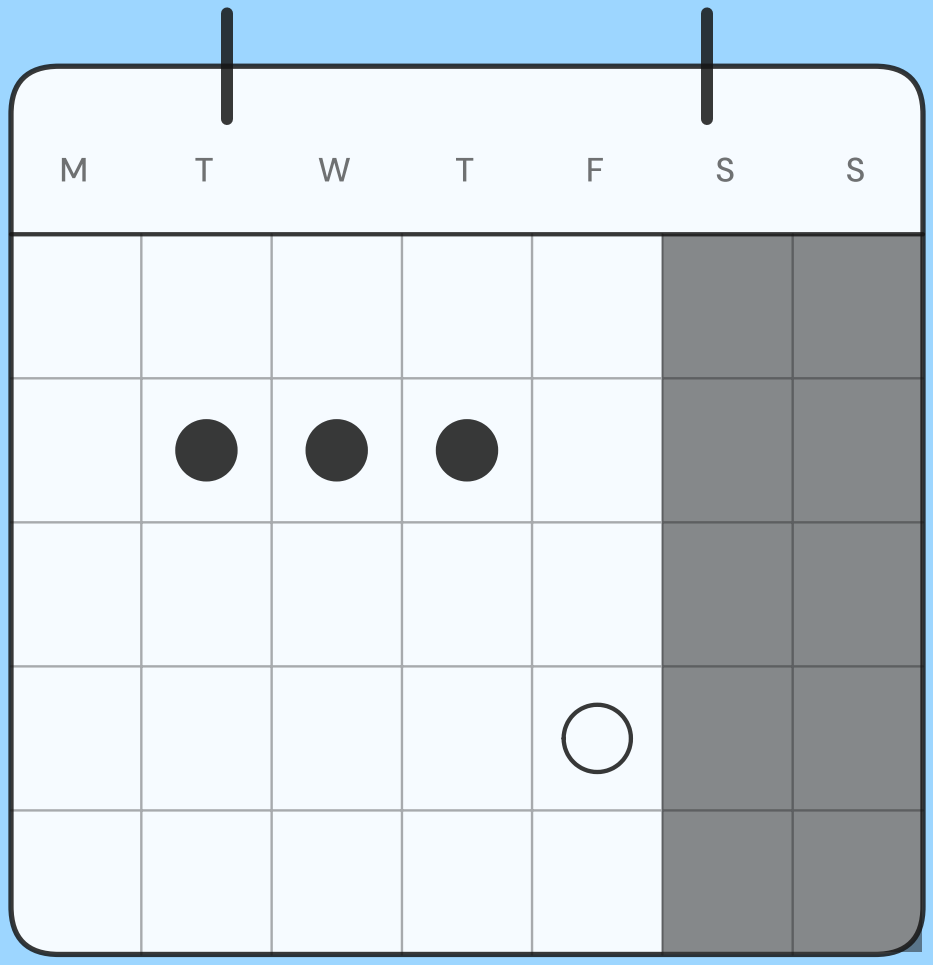

Employees are expected to perform their duties to the required standards and contribute positively to the team. Performance may be reviewed periodically, and employees are encouraged to seek feedback and develop their skills and capabilities.

11 Disciplinary action

Employees are expected to comply with this handbook, their employment contract, and applicable laws. Where standards are not met, or where misconduct occurs, the company may investigate the matter and take appropriate disciplinary action, including warnings, suspension, or termination where justified. The level of action taken will depend on the circumstances and seriousness of the matter.

12 Raising concerns

Employees who have concerns relating to workplace conduct, safety, discrimination, harassment, or other inappropriate behaviour should raise them with their Reporting Officer, HR, or Management. Reports will be handled appropriately and as confidentially as practicable.

05

Workplace policies

Leave and claims, at a high level.

Leave entitlements

Leave and claims follow the Employment Act, your employment contract, and prevailing company policies. This section is a high-level overview. Eligibility depends on role, length of service, and statutory criteria, and not every leave type applies to every employee.

Annual leave

CONTRACT

Pro-rated by start date, subject to approval.

Sick leave (outpatient)

EMPLOYMENT ACT

14 days per year, paid. MC generally required. Up to 2 days per year may be taken without an MC as a company benefit, subject to timely notice to your RO and approval.

Birthday leave

COMPANY BENEFIT

One day, discretionary, subject to eligibility and operational needs.

1 day

Unpaid leave

MANAGEMENT APPROVAL

Case by case.

COMPANY BENEFITS

Marriage leave, birthday leave, compassionate leave, and sick leave taken without an MC are company benefits rather than statutory entitlements. The company may amend, suspend, or withdraw them at its discretion.

Reimbursement and claims

How a claim travels, from submission to payment.

Submit through HRMS

All claims must be submitted through the HRMS platform. Claims submitted through other channels will not be processed.

Attach the receipt and purpose

Each claim must be supported by the appropriate original or digital receipt and include a clear description of the purpose of the expense.

Approval

Claims are subject to approval by the employee's Reporting Officer and, where applicable, review by the administration team.

Payment

Approved reimbursements will generally be paid together with the monthly salary.

Claims that are incomplete, unsupported, or do not meet the applicable requirements may be rejected.

Allowances and other benefits, where applicable, will be provided in accordance with the employee's employment contract and/or prevailing company policies, and may be reviewed or revised from time to time.

06

Workplace safety and health

Safety is everyone's responsibility.

Workplace safety and health

We work in both office and live-site environments, each of which presents different risks. D'trax is committed to providing a safe and healthy working environment and appropriate systems of work. Employees are expected to take reasonable care of their own safety and health and that of those around them, and to comply with applicable workplace safety and health requirements.

08

IT, email, device and acceptable use

Use company systems responsibly, and protect company and client information.

IT, email, device and acceptable use

D'trax provides email, devices, systems, and business applications to support work. Employees are expected to use them responsibly and protect company and client information.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

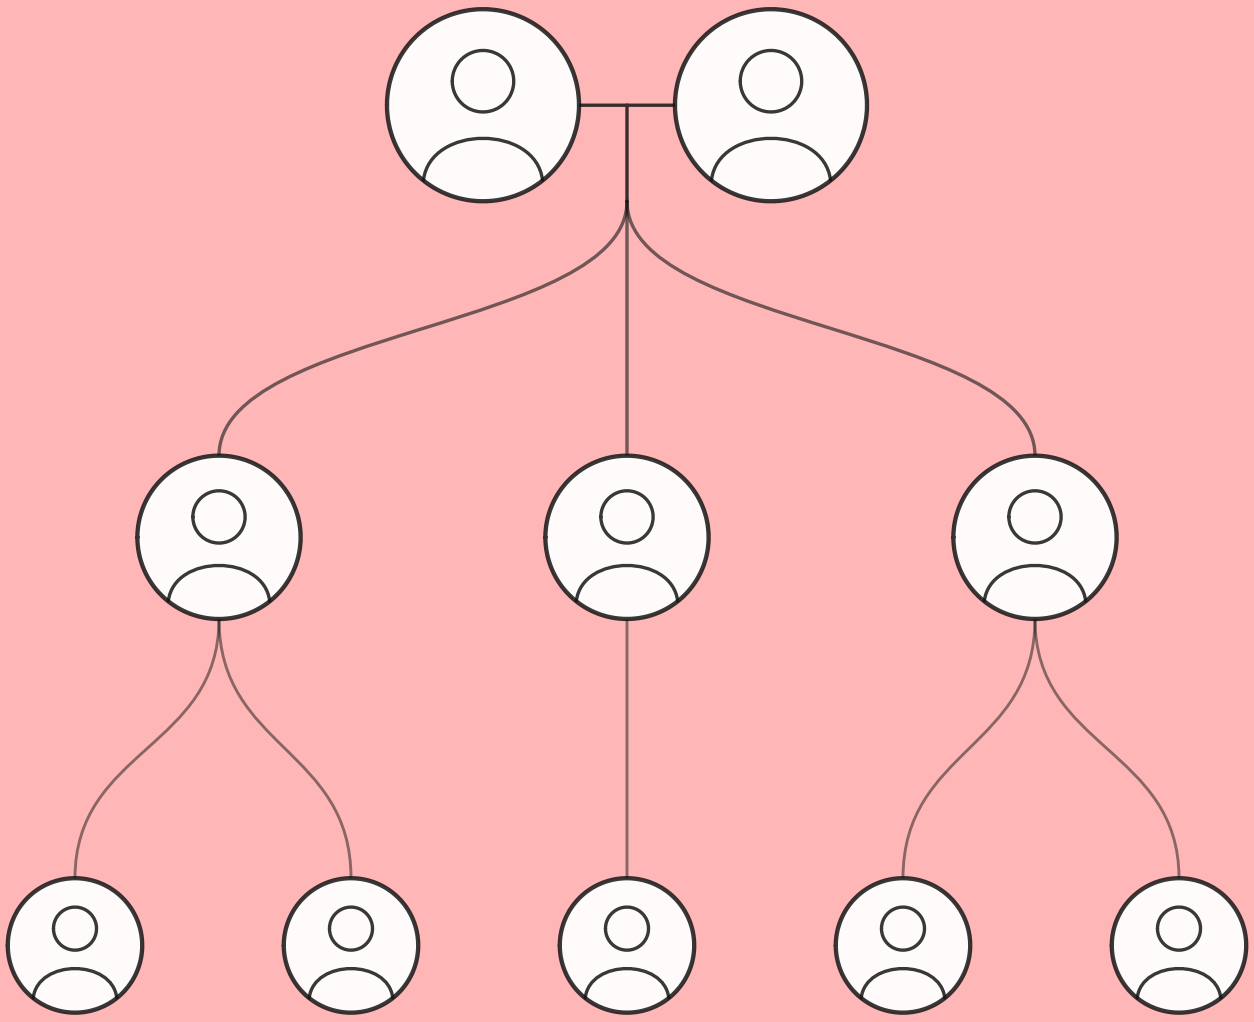

- Keep passwords secure and do not share accounts.
- Protect company and client information from unauthorised access or disclosure.
- Use company systems and devices primarily for work purposes.
- Do not install unauthorised software or use company resources for unlawful, offensive, or inappropriate activities.
- Do not transfer company data to personal accounts, personal storage devices, or unapproved platforms.
- Report lost devices, security incidents, or suspected data breaches immediately.

Use of AI tools

Employees must not upload confidential company, client, or personal data to public AI tools, and should use only approved tools where authorised. AI-generated output must be reviewed before use.

Monitoring and return of property

Company systems, devices, and data remain the property of D'trax and may be monitored for legitimate business purposes. Upon leaving the company, employees must return all company property and must not retain company data.

09

Team and organisation

No job depends on one person.

Team and organisation

D'trax is a team-based firm. Our work is organised across five teams under the two founders, with employees expected to collaborate across teams, support one another, and work together to deliver projects effectively.

HOW WE COVER WORK

A buddy system, so no job depends on one person.

We use a buddy-system approach across design and project work to support continuity and ensure that no job depends on one person. Employees should know who their buddy is, keep them updated on ongoing work, and provide sufficient information and context so they can step in when needed.

01

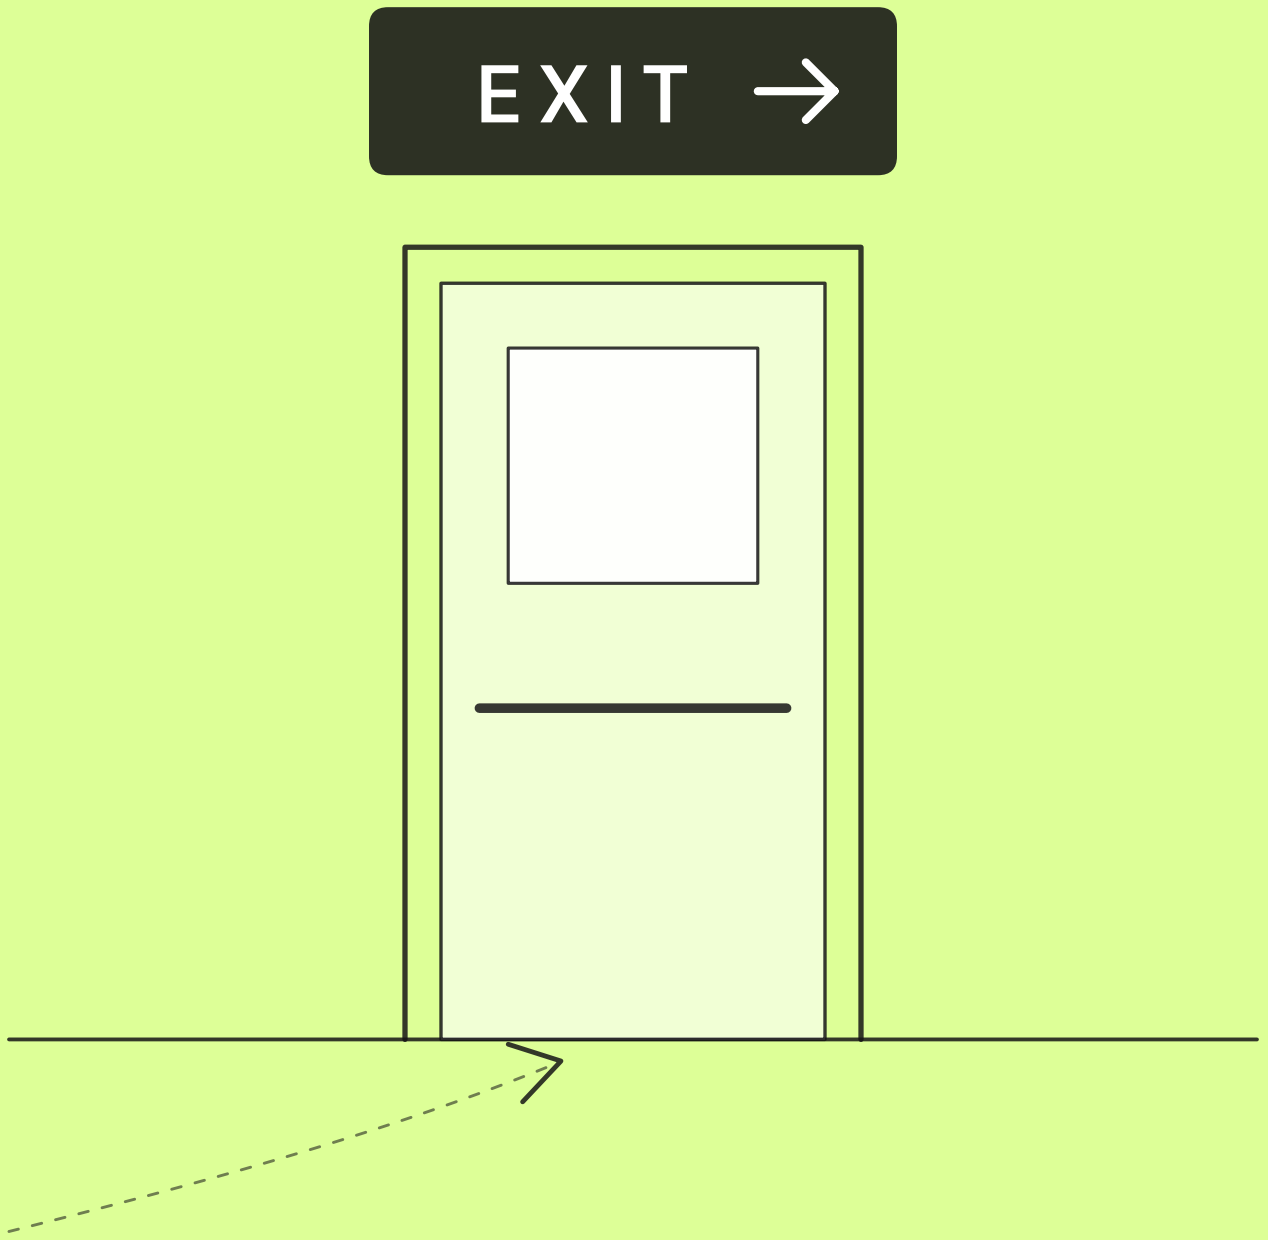

Know who your buddy is.

02

Keep them updated on ongoing work.

03

Give them enough information and context to step in when needed.

10

Emergency contacts and incident escalation

Prioritise safety, and report promptly.

Emergency contacts and incident escalation

Employees should prioritise safety and seek immediate assistance in the event of an emergency, workplace incident, or unsafe condition. Emergency contact information and evacuation procedures will be communicated separately and displayed at company premises and project sites.

INCIDENT REPORTING

Report all of these, promptly

- Workplace injuries
- Accidents
- Near-misses
- Security incidents
- Safety concerns

Make it safe

Prioritise safety and seek immediate assistance.

Report it promptly

Report to the appropriate Reporting Officer or Management.

The company follows up

The company will investigate incidents and take appropriate corrective actions, including regulatory reporting where required.

Before you start

This handbook sets out how we work and what we expect of each other. Read it properly, keep it handy, and come back to it when you're unsure.

It won't answer everything. When something isn't clear, ask early rather than guess. That's how we work here, and it applies to the handbook as much as the job.

We keep this document current. The latest approved version is always the one that applies, so check you're working from it.

Think clearly, speak plainly, and finish what you start.

Welcome aboard.
